Proposed carbon tax plan could increase electricity costs

You already know these are hard economic times for America's families. Many are struggling to afford the basics – food, housing and energy costs. The cost of electricity has already increased 40% since 2002, and there are signs that electric cooperatives will have to raise rates again.

Legislative efforts to address climate change concerns by limiting emissions of carbon dioxide (CO<sub>2</sub>) and other greenhouse gases are part of the national energy strategy that has taken center-stage in Washington, D.C. President Obama's budget jumpstarted the debate by proposing that Congress auction 100 percent of all emission allowances under a cap-and-trade system.

Congressional leaders continue to press for legislation to place a cap on emissions, even as the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has started the process of regulating emissions using the Clean Air Act. No matter the option, consumers and the economy are facing new costs as CO<sub>2</sub> emissions are priced and controlled.

With your help we can urge Congress to work with electric co-ops to meet both federal public policy goals and your need for affordable, reliable electricity.

What does this do to the end user? Under the plan by the US

Senate and House of Representatives, consumers could be forced to pay for carbon (CO<sub>2</sub>) emission reduction by paying more for the energy they use.

This bill will require generation facilities like Associated Electric Cooperative Inc. to purchase CO<sub>2</sub> permits from a cap-and-trade program in order to operate. The plan could increase monthly electric bills for co-op members, depending on the amount of the carbon tax. If congress passes a CO<sub>2</sub> cap-and-trade program members could see an increase of 17% to 25% in their electric bills.

We need answers, 839000 and as your electric cooperative we stand ready to work with members of congress to get the job done.

What can you do? If you have internet access, log on to www.ourenergy.coop and urge Congress to work with electric co-ops to meet both federal public policy goals and your need for affordable, reliable electricity.

For a chance to win an electric grill you can stop by your local Cookson Hills Office in the month of June and fill out an “Our Energy, Our Future Card.”

Essay Finalists Win Trip to Washington, D.C.

The Annual Youth Tour Essay Contest Banquet, sponsored by Cookson Hills Electric Cooperative, was held April 13, 2009, at the Cookson Hills Electric Cooperative office in Stigler, Oklahoma. The banquet honored the four winners selected through a rigorous judging process.

The winners of this year's contest, which is open to all junior students in Cookson's service territory, are Samantha Wheeler, daughter of Charles and Tressa Wheeler, from Stigler High School; Jade Edwards, daughter of Jeff and Dawn Edwards, from Roland High School; Andy Blake, son of Shawn and Donna Blake, from Gans High School; and Gabriel LaBounty, son of Sherry LaBounty, from Warner High School.

Teachers of the winning students

The carbon tax bill is a very important issue which could possibly effect Cookson Hills electric rates in years to come.

Please act now. Together we can make a difference.

that worked with them on their essays are Robbie Sloan from Stigler High School, Kathy Manus from Roland High School, Marsha Scott from Gans High School and Laurie McKern from Warner High School.

The four winning students will join approximately 70 other junior students from Oklahoma on a week-long all expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., June 12 – 18. When they arrive in Washington, D.C., they will join over 1,300 other students from across the nation as they embark on an educational and fun filled week.

Students are given the opportunity to tour political and governmental landmarks and monuments, as well as museums and other points of interest, to gain a better knowledge and appreciation for the history of this country and how today's lawmakers work. It is a firsthand look at our government in action for these students, who also learn more about rural electrification and the value of the rural electric cooperative.

The topic of the speech this year was "Our Energy, Our Future." The winning students presented their essays in speech form at the banquet for their guests, the board of directors and management of Cookson Hills Electric. Each student was then presented with a plaque for their efforts.

Do you have a Capital Credit Check to Claim?

Cookson Hills Electric Cooperative is operated on a non-profit basis for the benefit of its members. This means any margins left over after Cookson Hills pays all its expenses, including taxes, belong to the members and not the cooperative. Each member's capital credit allocation is based on the member's electricity costs during the previous years. Cookson Hills issues capital credit checks during December of each year. At present 1,671 checks remain unclaimed. One of these checks may belong to you or someone you know. Please look closely at the following list. If you find your name or the name of a friend or relative, please notify Sonya at 800-328-2368.
